

Fashion Design

School: SoCal ROC
Course ID: 632
Availability: Call 310-224-4200

Short Description

Picture yourself walking down the runway wearing an outfit you designed and created yourself!

Description

Picture yourself walking down the runway wearing an outfit you designed and created yourself! This course introduces the student to the exciting, fast-paced world of the Fashion Design Industry. Students learn about the design process, about apparel wholesale and retail markets, and about the latest fashion trends. They also use sketching techniques to create a portfolio that includes the initial stages of product development, as well as research, logo development, and final clothing line. Students learn appropriate fashion terminology, and are introduced to the production and marketing of the fashion product, as well as to the overall structure of the fashion industry. The course culminates in a student produced fashion show!

Prerequisites

None

On the Job Training

No

UC Credit

UC/CSU Approved "f" requirement

Course Locations

SoCal ROC

Address: 2300 Crenshaw Blvd., Torrance, CA 90501 U.S.

Phone: 310-224-4200